
EXPOSURE VISIT DOITUNG, THAILAND

Dear Mr./Ms.

Together with my colleagues, i m working on a PhD project in combination with the lead in pilot activities in Nepal. We research the impact of climate change onto Macadamia and Juglans in Nepal, further we look at the changes in livelihood through these two new crops and at the impacts of climate change onto the current value chain and market system. Part of my work is support farmers in solution finding in regards of the crops through exchange with experts, theory and on-site activities.

There is no professional macadamia experience nor orchards in Nepal. Therefore, I desire to visit different farms in Thailand to see and learn with my own eyes in order to understand more about macadamia and support farmers in Nepal with better knowledge or linkage to knowledge. As DoiTung is not a commercialised one-person owned farm, this is especially interesting for me.

I therefore request kindly, to be accepted as a visitor at the end of September in the time period of 27-29.9.2016 for a visit.

Thank you for your consideration,

Sincerely,

Andrea Karin Barrueto, PhD candidate
